Graduate Studies Opportunities

As a graduate of an applied degree program, there are many opportunities for you to further your academic pursuits. Each graduate degree program has individual requirements that you may have to meet prior to acceptance, so it is best to speak to each institution individually. Many of the programs offer Edmonton cohorts or online learning opportunities.

As examples, alumni from the BAHSA program have been accepted into graduate degree programs at:

- Royal Roads University:
 - Master of Business Administration, specialization in Leadership
 - Master of Arts in Leadership
- University of Calgary:
 - Masters in Disability and Community Studies (MDCS)
 - Masters of Social Work
- Cape Breton University:
 - Masters of Business Administration in Community Economic Development

You may also want to look into City University of Seattle- Master of Arts in Leadership.

If you do enter a graduate degree program, we ask that you let the program know, as we are making an attempt to informally track the continuing educational progress of our graduates.
