LAYERS: MacEwan University's Design Portfolio Show 2026 set to open

Edmonton – MacEwan University proudly presents LAYERS: MacEwan Design Portfolio Show 2026. We look forward to celebrating the 2026 graduating class of MacEwan University's Design Program as their work is displayed in the Mitchell Art Gallery.

From typography to videography, LAYERS represents the breadth of pathways pursued by MacEwan's Bachelor of Design students. Peeling back the LAYERS, we reveal the vast, chaotic and sometimes polarizing perspectives that define us as designers — and the shared foundation beneath it all. Each of us brings a distinct talent, a creative spirit that shapes what we make today, and what comes next. Our LAYERS run deep: in the hours spent, the interfaces learned, the colour modes mastered, the community that forms around all of it. There is overlap in how we approach problems, intersectionality in how we see the world, and always more beneath the surface.

Different experiences, different ways of seeing — layered together into something none of us could have made alone.

The MacEwan Design program continues to grow and support the many different emerging pathways that students explore through their studies.

The exhibition runs from May 1 to 9. The Mitchell Art Gallery is open Tuesday to Saturday, noon to 5 p.m.

There will be an opening reception:

Thursday, April 30

7 - 8:30 p.m.
