Find yourself in the heart of downtown Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. Discover your passions and build the foundation for a flourishing career, learn great things on your own terms and timelines, and immerse yourself in a community that will support you throughout your university journey.

We acknowledge that the land on which we gather in Treaty Six Territory is the traditional gathering place for many Indigenous people. We honour and respect the history, languages, ceremonies and culture of the First Nations, Métis and Inuit who call this territory home.

The First People’s connection to the land teaches us about our inherent responsibility to protect and respect Mother Earth. With this acknowledgement, we honour the ancestors and children who have been buried here, missing and murdered Indigenous women and men, and the process of ongoing collective healing for all human beings. We are reminded that we are all treaty people and of the responsibility we have to one another.

COLE KOCH
Bachelor of Communications

Cole Koch spent eight months interning with the Northern Alberta Business Incubator, where he was able to develop a marketing strategy and interact with numerous small businesses in the area.

Not only will you begin to build your professional network through experiential learning opportunities, you will be able to connect with business owners, community builders and alumni who can help you chart your path forward as you launch your career.

More than 87,000 MacEwan alumni are making a difference in communities across the globe, but the impact is especially strong here in Alberta – over ninety per cent of our grads live and work within the province.

Powered by the Ten Thousand Coffees platform and supported by RBC’s Future Launch, the MacEwan Alumni Connection matches students with alumni to help prepare students for their careers after graduation. Gain valuable life and career advice from alumni within the community and benefit from their experience and expertise while building your network.
SEEK AND EXPLORE

We are a premiere undergraduate university that prioritizes great teaching and curiosity in scholarship.

Several of our faculty have received federal funding to pursue research in their area of expertise, many of whom provide opportunities for students to get involved in their work or research of their own. By bringing in student researchers, faculty members can not only forge great working relationships with these students, but also include a wider array of opinions and interpretations in the research process.

Each year, students are invited to present their research at Student Research Day where they give an oral or poster presentation detailing their work. From scientific experiments to art creations to community-based scholarship, these students are trendsetters and trend breakers, pursuing new hypotheses and asking new questions.

SPACE TO OBSERVE

A dedicated lab ensures valid data collection from zebrafish, the most common research animals in neuroscience, following rodents.

SPACE TO CREATE

Our state-of-the-art television studio (pictured) provides space for students across multiple disciplines to collaborate on new projects.
Our students and faculty have access to world-class facilities to power them forward in their studies and research.

› Our top-notch technology, including robotic telescopes and a nuclear magnetic resonance spectrometer, and interactive lab spaces – like our zebrafish lab for Biological Sciences and Psychology students – allow you to investigate open-ended questions, design and execute your own experiments, and analyze and present your data and findings.

› On the west end of campus, Allard Hall is home to a number of state-of-the-art facilities including a first-rate recording studio and a professional television studio. Students have access to the Triffo Theatre, a fully-equipped performance venue with professional lighting and rigging systems, as well as a multitude of drawing and design studios, photography studios and a darkroom.

› Our Clinical Simulation Centre enables students from a range of programs including nursing, social work and police and investigations to apply their knowledge in real-world simulations that replicate the hospital environment. These simulations leverage actors, lifelike computerized mannequins and even virtual reality to imitate real-world scenarios.

› The Interdisciplinary Lab allows practical application of clinical skills under faculty supervision for acupuncture, massage and therapist assistant students.

› MakerSpace, located in the John L. Haar Library, is a hub for innovation and creative activity. Use 3D printers, learn coding, create textiles and multimedia projects - or borrow tools and technology, such as vinyl cutters and 360-degree cameras.

"Throughout this process, I’ve learned to enjoy the journey rather than the final destination."

Course completion dates may also vary for competitive programs. Visit MacEwan.ca/Competitive or the program section of this viewbook for more information. All applicants must meet English Language Proficiency (ELP) requirements MacEwan.ca/ELP.

The International Student Bridging (ISB) category of admission allows applicants to enter their goal program directly if they are deficient in ONE subject and/or present a minimum 5.5 IELTS/70 TOEFL. Students missing one high school subject must present the competitive average on four subjects and additional admission criteria. Successful applicants must complete the deficient criteria in their first year of study.
