

Reporting Animal Welfare and Compliance Concerns

MacEwan University regards the use of animals in research, teaching and testing as valuable for continued progress in science and education. The University acknowledges the use of experimental and teaching or display animals as a privilege, one that comes with important ethical responsibilities.

If you see any circumstance that you feel may be in breach of animal welfare and compliance, and you are NOT part of the study team, please report your concerns in one of the following ways:

- a. Completion of this form, emailed to AREB@macewan.ca
- b. Completion of this form, sent through campus mail addressed to the Ethics Officer, 7-257
- c. Call the Ethics Officer, ext. 4280

The Animal Research Ethics Board will investigate any complaint that is received. If the complainant chooses to self-identify, they will be informed about the progress of the investigation and the final resolution. Any person reporting a concern is protected by MacEwan's Safe Disclosure Policy.
