   - Denise Roy was welcomed back from her administrative leave and Rose Ginther was welcomed as the new Associate Dean as of January 1, 2018
   - Workload – there is a new form to streamline the process, which includes a vacation plan. While no one will monitor vacation days, the Collective Agreement still requires a vacation plan be submitted to the Dean’s Office. Any faculty interested in negotiating their workload should speak with their Chair and the Dean
   - Change of hours in the Technology Centre (TC) – the TC is testing out extended hours from Monday to Friday, 8 a.m. – 11 p.m. on Monday to Friday and from 9 a.m. – 5 p.m. on weekends. This is a pilot project to see if students are still making use of TC resources later in the evening.

4. AGC Update
   There was no update.

5. New business
   5.1 Greetings from President Deborah Saucier
   Dr. Deborah Saucier asked the FFAC Council to highlight any issues that they would like her to address.

   During the discussion, the following questions arose:
   - How do you define research in the arts?
     - There are many ways to engage in scholarly and creative work, which can also involve students
   - Do you have any thoughts on how we as an institution prioritize new program development, including new degrees?
     - We look at our strategic goals and the cost of implementing a new program. We might need to allocate appropriate resources to degrees that are prioritized, while taking into account space management. We must also examine the cost of the program as well as the demand from the community
   - Is there a prototype in mind for what kind of university you would like to see MacEwan become?
     - We have an opportunity to define ourselves as a new kind of university where people can collaborate and break down silos. But we also need to make some changes, such as prioritizing more space for faculty and students to meet to discuss their scholarly work and exchange ideas.
       - A potential solution is to create a President’s Seminar Series each year that would examine a problem and scholars from multiple fields could address it with their discipline-specific knowledge
   - How do we better engage the community around us?
     - Universities are community builders through innovation. Our community is downtown Edmonton and we should have inclusive and equitable practices to ensure that we include people from this area. We should also employ Indigenous people throughout the university, and our procurement practices should engage the local community.

- What is your plan to ensure that all programs are treated with equity and fairness?
  - This is up to the Dean and the faculty. What practices can you implement to ensure that you are treating all your programs fairly and equitably?

5.2 FFAC Council Bylaw changes (Executive Committee)

The FFAC Council was asked to review and approve the proposed changes to the FFAC Council Bylaws. Several changes are recommended by both the Academic Governance Council and the FFAC Executive Committee. In a memo distributed on November 14, 2017, AGC requested that all faculties and schools adjust the composition of their councils to include the following ex-officio members on the basis of office or position: The President, The Provost and Vice-President Academic, the Deans of all other Faculties, Schools, and the University Library, the University Registrar, and the Director, kihew waciston. These members will not count against quorum and may delegate membership to an alternate who is a member of the University community.

The FFAC Executive also recommended changes, notably the addition of two new functions of the Faculty Council, which are to 1) address matters of governance referred to it by other university bodies, and 2) provide advice to the Dean regarding strategic planning initiatives, as well as the addition of an article formalizing the process around committee elections. One MacEwan Staff Association (MSA) member from FFAC for a two-year, renewable term selected by the MSA, is proposed, as well as minor wording changes throughout.

Key discussion points

- There was a question regarding proposed Article 5.1.6 regarding the addition of an MSA member. The process for electing an MSA member, as well as the number of MSA members elected to FFAC Council, needs more clarification. It was decided that these Bylaw changes will come back to the next meeting for further review after clarification is received around the extent of MSA’s involvement in the election process.

The mover of the motion requested that the motion on the floor to approve the changes to the FFAC Council Bylaws be withdrawn. The motion was withdrawn by unanimous consent.
