6. Question Period

- Andrew Buhr: “The Dean's newsletter of 2019 June 14 refers to a Project Communications Management committee and indicates that its composition "will be established soon". I hope that this committee is managing two-way communication and look forward to hearing about its composition”. Ewa replied that she had requested Amanda Brisson in the meeting last week to attend regular meetings at ACC to share information, provide updates on the move and answer questions or concerns.

- Andrew Buhr: “In the Dean's newsletter we read: "All new campus buildings are using an open space concept for staff and faculty work areas as the standard for MacEwan University." And yet the faculty in the Faculty of Fine Arts and Communications, recently moved into the same building, do not have open space for staff "work areas": they actually have offices. So not all new campus buildings are assigning faculty to open spaces, some faculty in our new building have offices. With doors that close, and the possibility of a little privacy. I suspect that most of us are also aware that the research on productivity in open-plan work space is consistently negative. People do not work as well in open plan cube-farms as they do in offices”. Ewa responded that she has also requested to have a tour to Allard Hall in small groups to see open space concept at FFAC. She will follow up with Amanda on her request when she will return from holidays in July. She also indicated that all the questions or concerns are currently addressed by the committee.

- Michael Buhr asked about the projects that need to be installed at ACC in fall before our move. Ewa responded that the projectors will be installed as scheduled in summer regardless. Suzanne L added that hopefully, the move will bring the transition to new technology as we ordered two CISCO spark boards for breakout room/meeting rooms. The discussions on buying or renting ACC furniture or equipment’s by EPSB are underway.

- Michael Buhr asked how PSLA changes would impact the composition of the SCE School Council. Ewa responded that the President has advised waiting until GFC and other new councils’ membership is in place to get a better understanding of the governance structure. More information will follow in the fall.
