4. Chair’s update
Reported by A. Gilliland, Chair, FFAC Council

Allan Gilliland reported the following items:

- New faculty hires: Allan welcomed the five (5) new faculty members that were hired this year: Padraig Buttnor-Schnirer (Music), Josée Chartrand (Theatre), and Anna Hawkins, Keni-Lynn Reeves, and Adolfo Ruiz (Art and Design). Mallory Chipman also has a full-time limited term appointment as head of vocals while Chandelle Rimmer is on sabbatical leave.

- New student members: Allan welcomed three (3) new student members: Colin Campbell (Department of Music), Joseph Fawzy (Department of Art and Design), and Cheyenne Juknies (Department of Communication).

- Representatives from other areas: Allan welcomed Frankie Billingsley (Registrar’s Office), Jessica Haines (Faculty of Arts and Science), Terry McLean (School of Continuing Education), Cassie Prochnau (Faculty of Health and Community Studies), Ann Ranson Ratusz (Faculty of Nursing), Tarek Salem (School of Business), and Karen Keiller, Dean of the Library.

- Political activities: Allan reminded faculty that the university is apolitical in political campaigns. Employees involved with, or considering involvement in political activities should follow these institutional guidelines.

- Indigenous curriculum: Faculty who wish to incorporate Indigenous cultures into activities on campus must provide gifts to elders or Indigenous performers using the payment to elder procedure, which can be found by navigating to the myMacEwan portal > Departments > Financial Services > Accounts Payable > Elder Payment.

- Fallow period for governance business: On September 17, 2019, General Faculties Council distributed a notice that there will be no classes scheduled on Mondays from 3 - 6 p.m. beginning in the 2020-2021 academic year. This period will be available for GFC and standing committee meetings, as well as department meetings and other governance business.

- Newsletter: Faculty and staff can share upcoming events through the weekly events newsletter here.

- Budget: The provincial budget will be released in late October 2019.

5. New business

5.1 Message from the Provost
Presented by C. Monk, Provost and VP Academic

The Provost and VP Academic, Craig Monk, provided an update on the academic affairs of MacEwan University. This update highlighted the pause on the strategic planning process until the recruitment of a new President, the move to Part I of the Post-Secondary Learning Act (PSLA) and reconstitution of the General Faculties Council (GFC), the provincial budget and its implications for the university, and senior administration recruitment.

5.2 Code of Conduct Presentation
Presented by K. Boros, Director, Labour Relations & Employment Services, and J. Pearse, Faculty Relations Consultant

Karen Boros and Jillian Pearse provided an overview of the new Code of Conduct and demonstrated how to make a disclosure using the myMacEwan portal. Mandatory training will be provided beginning in January.
During the presentation, the following questions arose:

Q. What are the differences between actual and perceived conflicts of interest?
A. At this time, any actual or perceived conflicts of interest should be disclosed to HR. It is uncertain at this time what might be required in terms of reporting to the government.

Q. How will the Dean manage to review all disclosures?
A. This is a potential challenge, as every type of conflict must be made as a separate disclosure. However, some disclosures may be quick to review.

Q. Who has access to this information?
A. Only HR can currently access this information.

Q. Do honorariums need to be disclosed?
A. Yes, because this is a form of payment.

Q. Do I need to disclose if I belong to a professional organization and do not receive remuneration?
A. No, this is not a perceived conflict.

5.3 Election of FFAC Council vice-chair

Presented by D. Sadoway on behalf of the FFAC Executive Committee

Bill Richards put his name forward for the position of Vice-Chair, FFAC Council.

Motion to elect Bill Richards as Vice-Chair, FFAC Council, for a two-year term.
