MacEwan University Distinguished Research Award

2020 Nomination Form

The MacEwan University Distinguished Research Award was first awarded in 2015 to recognize scholarly excellence among faculty researchers. It is awarded to a faculty member or team whose research, scholarship, or creative activity have made significant contributions to society and the scholarly community within local, national, or international contexts.

To be considered for this award, the faculty member or team leader must: (a) be a continuing faculty member and (b) have not received the award within the last five years.

Completed nomination forms must be returned to the Associate Vice-President, Research, via e-mail at kuziemskyc@macewan.ca by March 18, 2020. Late applications will not be completed. A person may self nominate for the award.

For clarification and/or assistance in completing the nomination form, please contact research@macewan.ca.

The Distinguished Research Award carries a value of $10,000 and is governed by the Distinguished Research Award Policy (formerly Policy C6002). General information, award criteria and details on the nomination process is available at www.macewan.ca/research.

Rationale for Nomination:

Indicate below or in a separate attachment why the nominee(s) should be considered for this award. Nominees should have a demonstrable record of sustained, peer-reviewed publication, creative/artistic work, or leadership in undergraduate research. Provide details/examples to support the nomination. Nominations for early-career investigators with research achievements of significant impact will be considered.
Letters of Support:
Nominations must be supported by at least three (3) letters of support from professional peers, one (1) of which must come from a recognized scholar external to the university. Current and past collaborators are eligible as referees.

Letters of support should illustrate the standards of excellence in research or creative work in the nominee’s discipline, and explain how the nominee’s performance meets or exceeds those standards.

If an early-career scholar is being nominated for a project of significant impact, letters of support should address how the nominee’s work has contributed to solving this important problem or critical barrier; how knowledge, technical capabilities, or practices were improved; and/or how the project exerts a significant, sustained influence on the field of research or discipline involved.

The nominator is responsible for contacting the referees and arranging letters of support. Letters of support should be sent via e-mail directly to the Associate Vice-President, Research at kuziemskyc@macewan.ca
